

2021-2022 NIRSA Assembly Application

The NIRSA Assembly is a group of individuals, referred to as facilitators of thought, who are charged with thinking about the future. They work closely with high-level NIRSA leaders to determine what forthcoming topics will be impacting the profession of collegiate recreation. The Assembly's efforts contribute to the important task of participating in and facilitating thought-provoking discussions and research regarding the future of the profession.

As a member of the Assembly you will have a chance to bring topics forward for consideration that you see as relevant to the future of collegiate recreation. You will actively be vetting these topics with your peers, researching ways that institutions across our membership have been successful in approaching them, and finding ways to provide your findings to the membership. Some of the ways the Assembly shares their findings include developing a panel or educational session at various NIRSA conferences, creating a resource guide to be featured on the Assembly webpage, writing NIRSA KNOW articles, and facilitating discussions with members through the NIRSA Connect Community.

For more information view the Assembly webpage: <https://nirsa.net/nirsa/assembly>

Whether you possess a broad, working knowledge of the profession, strategic expertise, or a passion for current and relevant topics related to collegiate recreation, you are encouraged to apply!
